

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

At Cargill Chocolate Belgium, we are firmly committed to protecting and improving the environment as part of our chocolate production operations at the Mouscron site.

As a global leader in the food industry, we recognize our responsibility towards society and future generations to preserve natural resources and minimize our environmental footprint.

At Cargill Chocolate Belgium, we are committed to:

1. Comply with applicable legislation and standards: we comply with all relevant environmental laws, regulations and standards, as well as the specific requirements of our stakeholders.
2. Prevention of environmental impacts: we identify and assess the environmental aspects of our activities, products and services, and implement pollution prevention measures at all levels of our operations.
3. Natural resource management: we use natural resources such as water, energy and raw materials efficiently, minimizing waste and promoting recycling and reusability.
4. Reducing emissions and waste: We strive to reduce air emissions, water discharges and production of waste, by adopting clean technologies and efficient management practices.
5. Continuous Improvement: We establish measurable environmental objectives and periodically review our environmental performance to identify opportunities for continuous improvement.
6. Awareness and Training: We raise awareness and train our employees in responsible environmental practices, encouraging their active engagement in protecting the environment.
7. Stakeholder Collaboration: We engage with our suppliers, customers, local authorities and neighbouring businesses to promote sustainable environmental practices and foster open dialogue on environmental issues.

Our environmental policy complies with ISO 14001 environmental management standards and guides our actions, taking into account the issues related to global warming and the loss of biodiversity, towards sustainable development.
